Key Symbols on maps		An aerial photograph of our school – would you be able to label it?
Maps show everything much smaller than in real life. There is not enough space to write a lot or draw everything in detail. That is why map makers use symbols (simple small drawings or specific colours) to represent specific buildings (e.g. post office, hospital), structures (e.g. motorway, car park) or natural features (e.g. river, wood)		 Ball court Main building Staff Car park School field Early years Bath Road
Wardown Park		Maps
 Could you draw a plan of Wardown Park and use the map symbols and correct colours for lake, footpaths and buildings?		Maps show us where places are. We have maps on computers, phones and tablets. We use maps to find our way around. When you get used to a place, you remember the map in your head. For small areas we use a plan. This helps us understand where things are. It's like looking down like a bird flying high and seeing everything.
